

16 Days of Activism Against Gender Based Violence

Programme 2020

16 Days of Activism against gender based violence is a campaign run by the UN each year from from 25th November to 10th December. It was started in 1991 and is used as an organizing strategy around the world to call for the prevention and elimination of violence against women and girls. We've collated this programme of events being run by our network members below to highlight some of the brilliant work being done.
